

East Deanwood, D. C.

A Rare Opportunity to Secure a Fine Building Lot, 25x140 Feet in the District for $125 on Easy Payments.

EAST DEANWOOD is a fine level subdivision about three miles from the Capitol Building, the plat of which is recorded in the District Surveyor's Office, County Book 9, page 101. The streets are 90 feet wide and conform to the city plans. 600 shade trees have been planted, with boxes around same. All lots have 19 feet of parking and run back to 20-foot alley. Lots are 25 feet front by 140 deep and all on GRADE. D, E, F, and G streets northeast extended run through East Deanwood. The Engineering Department has tested all the streets and found them correct.

50 LOTS ONLY WILL BE SOLD AT THE ABOVE PRICE. As sixty thousand readers of THE TIMES will see this offer, you had better be quick if you want to secure A GOOD LOT at the $125 price.

Communtion fare 5 cents to Pennsylvania depot, Sixth street.

No interest charged on Deferred Payments. No Notes. No Deed of Trust. Title Guaranteed.

In Case of Death.

Should any purchaser of a lot on the INSTALLMENT PLAN DIE before all installments are paid, lot will be deeded to his or her heirs or assigns in fee simple, and amount paid up to time of death will be accepted as full payment of the price.

Installments will be accepted weekly or monthly. A liberal discount for cash.

Transportation furnished on application. For particulars call on or address—

E. M. PINE, 1320 F street n. w., Washington, D. C.

TO ACCOMMODATE THOSE WHO CANNOT CALL DURING THE DAY OFFICE WILL BE OPEN WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY EVENINGS FROM 7 TILL 9 O'CLOCK.

GOD PROTECT BULGARIA.

Last Words of Murdered Ex-Prime Minister Stefan Stambouloff.

(By United Press.) Sofia, July 18.—Stefan M. Stambouloff, ex-prime minister of Bulgaria, died at 3.30 o'clock this morning from the effects of the wounds inflicted upon him Monday evening when he was returning to his home from the Palace of the Tsar.

Only forty years of age, he has earned for himself the title of the "Bismarck of Bulgaria" and his last words were "God protect Bulgaria." His death has intensified the bitter feeling that exists between his partisans and the supporters of the present government and it has been freely charged that Prince Ferdinand and his ministers were directly responsible for his assassination.

M. Peltoff, M. Stambouloff's personal friend and editor of his newspaper organ, the Svoboda, who was with him at the time he was set upon by the assassins and who was himself wounded in the struggle, beside the body ever since death occurred. He refused to leave the dining-room of the Stambouloff residence, where thereatens a new civil war. It is supposed that a peaceful adjustment is thus arrived at.

WAR NOT PROBABLE. Peru and Bolivia May Settle All Their Difficulties Peaceably.

(By Associated Press.) Lima, Peru, via Valparaiso, July 18.—It now appears probable that the good offices of the Papal Nuncio in the dispute between Peru and Bolivia have proved successful in averting hostilities.

Bolivia has consented to modify her demands so far as they include a salute of her flag by Peru, which demand Peru declined to entertain. Peru has also agreed to permit the justice of Bolivia's demands for damages for outrages, committed on the frontier by the Cochet forces during the recent civil war. It is believed that a peaceful adjustment is thus arrived at.

PREFER SLAVERY. Ohio Miners Willing to Sell Themselves For Life's Necessaries.

(By Associated Press.) Massillon, Ohio, July 18.—There having been much discussion here as to the accuracy of the report sent out from Spring Valley, Ill., to the effect that several hundred miners in that district had volunteered to enter into slavery if guaranteed the necessities of life by the mine owners, an inquiry was sent to Mayor Delmonico, of Spring Valley, and the following reply has been received:

"I am unable to say whether our miners would accept such an offer as was described in the telegram. I firmly believe, however, that over one-half of them would be willing to sign such an iron-clad contract."

Steamer Manchester to Marshall Hall and Indian Head Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 6.30 p. m.

IT'S A DECLINATION YET

Harrison Himself Refuses to Deny the Interview.

TOLD TO SEVEN PEOPLE

Major Poole Unburdened Himself on the Steamer Zip as Soon as He Left Dodd's Camp—His Companion Refuses to Say Anything About the Matter.

(By United Press.)

Old Forge, N. Y., July 18.—Away back here on the Adirondack mountains where the subject of politics is almost boring, the people are doing nothing today but discussing the announcement that General Harrison would not accept the presidency again.

The newspapers containing the announcement reached here at 5 o'clock. They were eagerly sought and more eagerly read. All of them contained a denial of the story by Major Poole.

All who read the denial and who were familiar with what had taken place at Dodd's Camp and afterward on the steamer Zip were surprised at what the major said. The language attributed to Gen. Harrison was told to at least seven persons, whose names are known.

In his denial Major Poole says he did not tell to anyone that Gen. Harrison had said that he would not be a candidate for the Presidency. As a matter of fact, Major Poole, after he and his friends had boarded the steamer Zip on their way to the Forge House from Dodd's Camp, called them around him and confided to them the results of the interview with Joseph L. Sayles had with Gen. Harrison.

WHAT HE SAID.

Major Poole told the party that Gen. Harrison told him that the trip to Syracuse would not be taken during the state fair week, and for the Grand Army not to expect him to be present. After telling them this, Major Poole told them what Gen. Harrison had said about the Presidency. He also told them not to state the conversation to any newspaper men. He said particularly to say upon this.

When Major Poole reached the Forge House he was asked if politics had been discussed during his visit to Gen. Harrison. He replied that there was no reference made to anything that pertained to the nature of politics.

This afternoon Joseph L. Sayles, who is still here conducting a law suit, was called upon in relation to his interview with Gen. Harrison. When asked if he had read Major Poole's interview, he said that he had. He said that he was not going to publish anything about the interview he and Major Poole had with Gen. Harrison were truthful.

Mr. Sayles' answer.

"Was the language attributed to Gen. Harrison correctly reported?" he was asked. "I will not say anything regarding my visit to Dodd's Camp."

All efforts to have Mr. Sayles talk for publication about the interview he and Major Poole had with Gen. Harrison were fruitless.

GEN. HARRISON MUM.

At Dodd's Camp this evening Gen. Harrison was reading his mail. He greeted the reporter cordially and inquired as to the nature of the call. When he was told he stopped reading his mail. Gen. Harrison had heard of the story sent out last evening, and read to the reporter a telegram he had received regarding it.

"What, if anything, have you to say, General, about the story?" he was asked. "I have nothing to say about the story," answered the General, pleasantly, but firmly.

"Will you not deny or affirm the truth of the 'Poole interview'?"

"I will not," General Harrison said that all efforts to have him talk through a newspaper on anything of a political nature would prove in vain.

"I must be let alone so far as that subject is concerned while I am here," said he.

General Harrison, who is to-day, but had poor luck. Mrs. McKee will arrive here tomorrow from Saratoga.

DEATHS OF A DAY.

Berne, Switzerland, July 18.—Charles Emmanuel Schenk, the distinguished Swiss politician, died to-day from the result of injuries sustained in a runaway accident.

New York, July 18.—A cable dispatch from Calcutta announces the death at that place of the Rev. James Liddell Phillips, the widely known Baptist missionary. No details of the event have been received.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 18.—A. S. Williams, Fla., Mr. Sam Rashed died to-day. He is said to have been one hundred and ten years old.

Pensacola, Fla., July 18.—Mr. Louis Baer, head of the largest wholesale grocery firm in West Florida, was found dead in bed this morning. He retired seemingly in perfect health. It is supposed he was attacked by heart failure during the night.

IN OPEN BOATS.

War Materials Shipped Into Cuba and the Police Outwitted.

(By Associated Press.) Kingston, Jamaica, July 18.—An open boat laden with arms left Oracabessa on Tuesday night for Gambia Point, there to meet boats from other creeks similarly laden. The contents of these were transferred to open boats from the Cuban coast in the open sea which made back to the Cuban coast with the supplies of war material.

The police, who are keeping a sharp lookout for such attempts, were thus outwitted.

SANITY TO BE TESTED.

Florida Banker Found Wandering About.

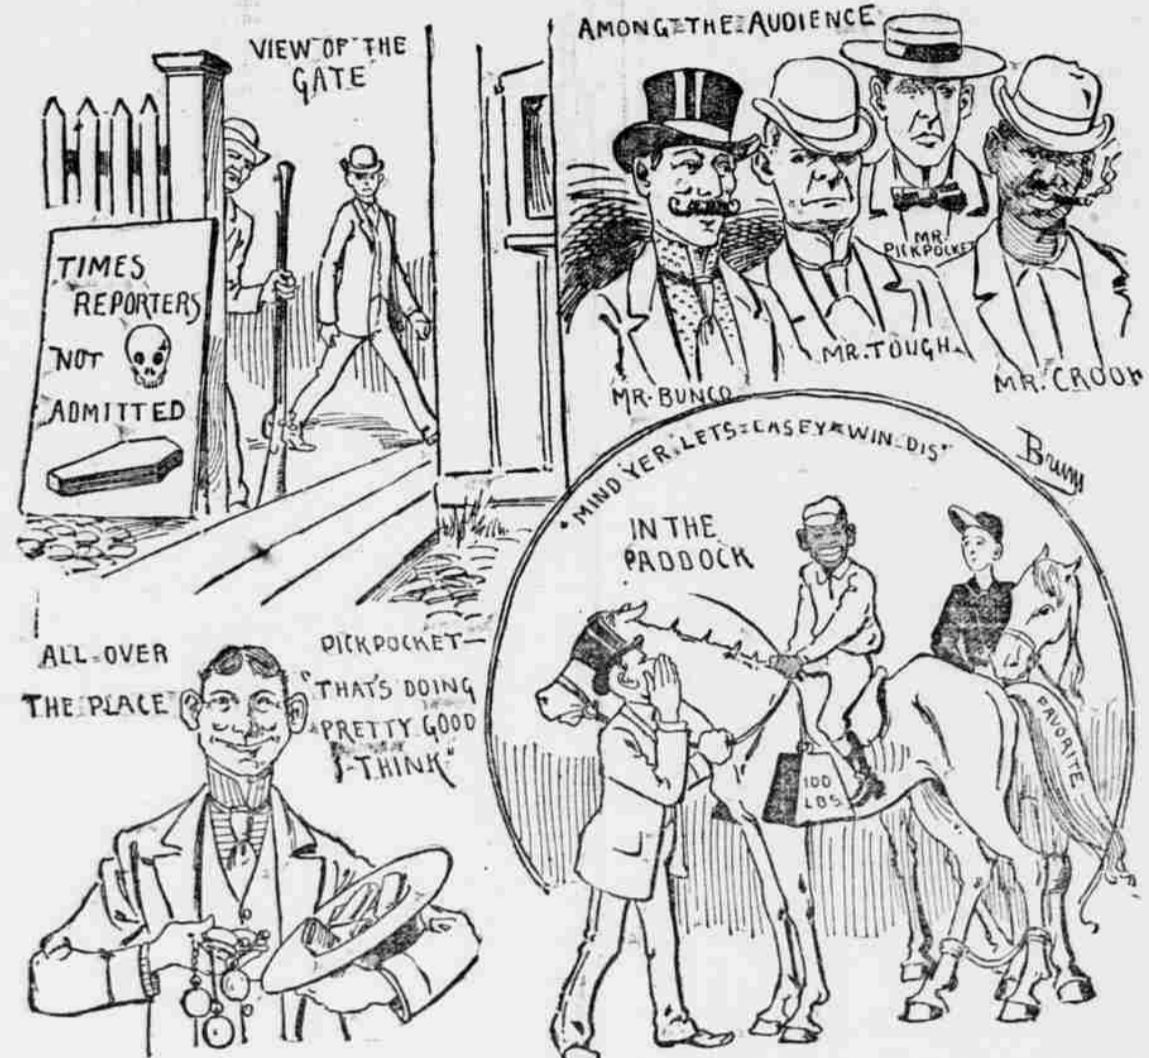

(By United Press.) New York, July 18.—W. A. Agnew, forty-seven years old, who claims to be a banker in Ocala, Fla., was found wandering aimlessly about the Liberty street ferry this morning.

Agnew was arraigned last before Magistrate Brann in the Tombs police court, who committed him for examination as to his sanity.

Dined With the Queen.

London, July 18.—The Marquis of Salisbury, the Duke of Devonshire, president of the council, and the Duke of Devonshire, dined to-night with the queen at Windsor castle. They will remain at the castle over night.

DO YOU WONDER—

That the Alexander Island gang wants to keep out The Times reporter?

RIVER RESORTS RAIDED

Judge Miller, Messrs. Pugh and Mullooney Gave the Tip.

SHERIFF PALMER'S DESCENT

Accompanied by Seven Deputies He Swept Down on Oak Grove and Cleaned Out the Place—Tools of Trade Worth $1,000 Were Captured—Many Gamblers Surprised.

The hot coals of vice that have heated the atmosphere of Alexandria county for so many months received such a raking over from Sheriff Palmer and his deputies last night that they are pretty nearly extinguished. Accompanied by seven trusty subordinates the newly elected sheriff swept along the river front and completely cleaned out notorious Oak Grove, and Foster's gambling hall above the Aqueduct bridge.

It is stated that the sheriff's action was brought about by a tour of inspection made yesterday afternoon by Judge Miller, Prosecuting Attorney Pugh, and his assistant, Mr. Mullooney. They embarked in the police boat Joe Blackburn in the afternoon and went in the neighborhood of the Aqueduct bridge, where are the notorious resorts so often exposed by The Times, and there the sheriff and his men found the place in full blast, but Foster's place in full blast, but Foster's place was closed up. Upon returning to the city, it is said, they sent word to Sheriff Palmer of what they had seen, with the result stated.

The sports, who cross the river every evening to lose their money on the green cloth, were gathered in large numbers at Oak Grove last night. The little boat that plies between the resort and Georgetown, was filled on every trip, and quite a large sum of money went over into Virginia, some of it, perhaps, belonging to Washington folks who have no suspicion how it was going.

INTERIOR OF NELSON'S.

Nelson's place is quite a large affair. On the first floor as you go in from the wharf there is a large room, fitted up with a bar, where the preliminaries are gone through with, and entrance gained to the next room and white-decked quietly entered and mingled with the players.

At that time Jack Welsh was on the look out, which by he failed to perform in his usual active fashion, and Fatty Johnson was dealing the cards in mystery style.

The eager players were startled by the order in which they were dealt, some of whom are well known in Washington who were badly engaged in trying to solve the mysteries of faro, or woe the roulette wheel, or risk their money at hazard, or, perhaps, amuse themselves in an inexpensive game of crap, all saturated with cheap liquor from the bar near by.

Everything was going swimmingly and money was changing hands with customary speed, the rake off swelling the "kitty" to his usual proportions, and there was no suspicion that the house was to be pulled at 10 o'clock.

A door leads from the first-floor room to the road going to the Aqueduct bridge, and it was through this that the sheriff and seven of his black and white deputies quietly entered and mingled with the players.

At that time Jack Welsh was on the look out, which by he failed to perform in his usual active fashion, and Fatty Johnson was dealing the cards in mystery style.

The eager players were startled by the order in which they were dealt, some of whom are well known in Washington who were badly engaged in trying to solve the mysteries of faro, or woe the roulette wheel, or risk their money at hazard, or, perhaps, amuse themselves in an inexpensive game of crap, all saturated with cheap liquor from the bar near by.

Everything was going swimmingly and money was changing hands with customary speed, the rake off swelling the "kitty" to his usual proportions, and there was no suspicion that the house was to be pulled at 10 o'clock.

A door leads from the first-floor room to the road going to the Aqueduct bridge, and it was through this that the sheriff and seven of his black and white deputies quietly entered and mingled with the players.

At that time Jack Welsh was on the look out, which by he failed to perform in his usual active fashion, and Fatty Johnson was dealing the cards in mystery style.

The eager players were startled by the order in which they were dealt, some of whom are well known in Washington who were badly engaged in trying to solve the mysteries of faro, or woe the roulette wheel, or risk their money at hazard, or, perhaps, amuse themselves in an inexpensive game of crap, all saturated with cheap liquor from the bar near by.

Everything was going swimmingly and money was changing hands with customary speed, the rake off swelling the "kitty" to his usual proportions, and there was no suspicion that the house was to be pulled at 10 o'clock.

A door leads from the first-floor room to the road going to the Aqueduct bridge, and it was through this that the sheriff and seven of his black and white deputies quietly entered and mingled with the players.

At that time Jack Welsh was on the look out, which by he failed to perform in his usual active fashion, and Fatty Johnson was dealing the cards in mystery style.

The eager players were startled by the order in which they were dealt, some of whom are well known in Washington who were badly engaged in trying to solve the mysteries of faro, or woe the roulette wheel, or risk their money at hazard, or, perhaps, amuse themselves in an inexpensive game of crap, all saturated with cheap liquor from the bar near by.

Everything was going swimmingly and money was changing hands with customary speed, the rake off swelling the "kitty" to his usual proportions, and there was no suspicion that the house was to be pulled at 10 o'clock.

A door leads from the first-floor room to the road going to the Aqueduct bridge, and it was through this that the sheriff and seven of his black and white deputies quietly entered and mingled with the players.

At that time Jack Welsh was on the look out, which by he failed to perform in his usual active fashion, and Fatty Johnson was dealing the cards in mystery style.

ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE

Unknown Young Woman Throws Herself Into the River.

NAVY YARD BRIDGE TRAGEDY

Screams Were Heard and a Dark Form Was Seen to Fall From the Structure—After a Long Search the Body Was Recovered, But None Could Identify Her.

With features drawn and pallid in death a girl lay last night in a boatway at French's boathouse, at the Washington end of the navy yard bridge.

Her head rested upon the bulkhead of the way that bears the number of the boat, and her body occupied the space where the boat usually lies. Her thin, livid arms were crossed upon her breast, one sleeve rolled up to the shoulder.

Policeman Arnold stood near her head and Policeman Stewart in the gloom at the rear.

An attendant held a headlight, so as to focus its rays upon her face and arms. She had just been dragged from the river, where she had plunged, in despair of any good coming of her life, and hundreds had gathered from the navy yard district and from Anacostia.

NO ONE KNEW HER.

They were admitted to the little boat-house a score at a time, and one after another gazed intently upon her features, then turned away without recognition.

Finally the dead woman came and the body was taken to the morgue, where it lay through the night.

It was 9.15 when passers on the Navy yard bridge heard a splash near the Washington end of the draw, and two screams pierced the air. One or two saw a dark figure descend swiftly from the lower side of the bridge, and all recognized that it was a woman going down to her grave.

W. J. Roundtree and A. W. Marron were at Bailey's wharf, and, jumping in one of Bailey's boats, rowed to the place where the body went down, when they picked up a black chip hat trimmed with black gros-grain silk, and a common black pocket book entirely empty.

The report of the suicide spread, and Thomas K. Nolley, the Eleventh street undertaker, came with grapping hooks. With John H. Harban he rowed out and began dragging. In three-quarters of an hour the body was caught and drawn up and carried away to French's boathouse.

HER EYES WERE SWOLLEN.

The girl had luxuriant dark brown hair, caught in a coil with a common bone pin. Her features were regular, pretty and showed intelligence and refinement. Her eyes, covered with blue-white lids, appeared swollen. Her purple lips were slightly parted.

She wore a black and white striped shirt waist, a black woolen skirt, neat Oxford shoes and black stockings.

On her hands were a pair of black cotton halfmitts. There was no ornament and nothing on her feet.

Many rumors were afloat. One was that it was Estelle Foster, of Madam Larnie's house in the "Division," but this was disproved. Another was that it was Bessie Black.

A third ran that the girl had been seen in Anacostia during the afternoon with another girl that she was a shop-woman who lived in Anacostia and worked in Washington; that after she left the other girl she had been seen quarreling with a man who wore a straw hat, dress coat, and light trousers.

A grippan said "She must have known the river. If she had jumped on the other side she would have landed in shallow water where she could not have drowned."

The body was found against the shoal about forty feet from where it fell.

Spent Sunday in the Country.

During the summer the B. & O. R. R. Company will sell excursion tickets at one fare for all trains, Saturdays and Sundays, to Charlestown, Va., Annapolis Junction, Md., and all intermediate points. Tickets good returning until Monday.

ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE

Unknown Young Woman Throws Herself Into the River.

NAVY YARD BRIDGE TRAGEDY

Screams Were Heard and a Dark Form Was Seen to Fall From the Structure—After a Long Search the Body Was Recovered, But None Could Identify Her.

With features drawn and pallid in death a girl lay last night in a boatway at French's boathouse, at the Washington end of the navy yard bridge.

Her head rested upon the bulkhead of the way that bears the number of the boat, and her body occupied the space where the boat usually lies. Her thin, livid arms were crossed upon her breast, one sleeve rolled up to the shoulder.

Policeman Arnold stood near her head and Policeman Stewart in the gloom at the rear.

An attendant held a headlight, so as to focus its rays upon her face and arms. She had just been dragged from the river, where she had plunged, in despair of any good coming of her life, and hundreds had gathered from the navy yard district and from Anacostia.

NO ONE KNEW HER.

They were admitted to the little boat-house a score at a time, and one after another gazed intently upon her features, then turned away without recognition.

Finally the dead woman came and the body was taken to the morgue, where it lay through the night.

It was 9.15 when passers on the Navy yard bridge heard a splash near the Washington end of the draw, and two screams pierced the air. One or two saw a dark figure descend swiftly from the lower side of the bridge, and all recognized that it was a woman going down to her grave.

W. J. Roundtree and A. W. Marron were at Bailey's wharf, and, jumping in one of Bailey's boats, rowed to the place where the body went down, when they picked up a black chip hat trimmed with black gros-grain silk, and a common black pocket book entirely empty.

The report of the suicide spread, and Thomas K. Nolley, the Eleventh street undertaker, came with grapping hooks. With John H. Harban he rowed out and began dragging. In three-quarters of an hour the body was caught and drawn up and carried away to French's boathouse.

HER EYES WERE SWOLLEN.

The girl had luxuriant dark brown hair, caught in a coil with a common bone pin. Her features were regular, pretty and showed intelligence and refinement. Her eyes, covered with blue-white lids, appeared swollen. Her purple lips were slightly parted.

She wore a black and white striped shirt waist, a black woolen skirt, neat Oxford shoes and black stockings.

On her hands were a pair of black cotton halfmitts. There was no ornament and nothing on her feet.

Many rumors were afloat. One was that it was Estelle Foster, of Madam Larnie's house in the "Division," but this was disproved. Another was that it was Bessie Black.

A third ran that the girl had been seen in Anacostia during the afternoon with another girl that she was a shop-woman who lived in Anacostia and worked in Washington; that after she left the other girl she had been seen quarreling with a man who wore a straw hat, dress coat, and light trousers.

A grippan said "She must have known the river. If she had jumped on the other side she would have landed in shallow water where she could not have drowned."

The body was found against the shoal about forty feet from where it fell.

Spent Sunday in the Country.

During the summer the B. & O. R. R. Company will sell excursion tickets at one fare for all trains, Saturdays and Sundays, to Charlestown, Va., Annapolis Junction, Md., and all intermediate points. Tickets good returning until Monday.

BIG BOYCOTT!

Notes of National Banks to Be Vigorously Ostracised.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR TO ACT

Will Not Be Received for Wages or For Merchandise.

OTHER ORDERS WILL HELP

General Master Workman Sovereign Issues a Manifesto to His Organization and to the Farmers' Alliance, the People's Party, Reform Clubs and Kindred Societies Reaching the Wrongs of the Tilling Masses, and Their Sufferings at the Hands of the Money Power, Calling For a Boycott on National Bank Notes in All Dealings Between Individuals. To Go Into Effect September 1 Next. Interview With Mr. Sovereign.

There is a big fight ahead. It will extend to every section and city of the United States, and may be more far-reaching in its consequences than any labor agitation of recent years. It will be nothing less than a national boycott of national bank notes.

It will be conducted by the order of Knights of Labor of America, and will, it is expected, be joined in by all other labor organizations, the Farmers' Alliance, the People's party, humanistic leagues, reform clubs, and kindred associations, and, as General Master Workman Sovereign puts it, "all lovers of liberty."

The executive board of the Knights of Labor have been considering the matter for some time, and the result of this consideration yesterday materialized in the form of a manifesto, which, over the signature of Mr. Sovereign, will at once be sent broadcast through the country.

An advance draft of this circular was last night shown to a Times reporter by the general master workman at Knights of Labor headquarters, and it makes "mighty interesting reading." It says:

INDICTMENT OF THE BANKS.

"Behind the proposition to perpetuate a monetary system in this country based on a single gold standard is a proposition to perpetuate the national banks. In fact, the national banks, in their individual capacity and through the American Bankers' Association, are the linkwork of a single gold standard money. They realize that gold alone will not be accepted by the American people as the only circulating medium, and therefore they demand that the monetary prerogatives of government be farmed out to them, making private interests and not the public welfare the only motive for furnishing a paper circulation to meet the requirements of business."

"The national banks are responsible for the destruction of the greenbacks, the payment of the bonds in coin, the production of the demonetization of silver, and all the corrupt financial legislation in this country. They are responsible for the destruction of the people's money, and they are responsible for the destruction of the people's money."

After they have accepted the greenbacks, they will make the work effective by every kind of money that promised relief to the debtor class and prosperity to the industrial masses. They are responsible for the most cruel and merciless kind."

DECLARING A BOYCOTT.

"Now we propose, through the Knights of Labor, Farmers' Alliance, People's party, and all reform organizations, that a boycott be placed on the notes of national banks, and that on and after September 1, 1895, our people be requested and urged to accept no national bank bills in any of the ordinary transactions of business."

"National bank notes are legal tender between the national government and the people, but not legal tender between individuals. They are not legal tender for private debt, except as they are produced by the multifarious transactions that enter into business intercourse between individuals; and it is generally agreed that if only one person in a hundred accepts these notes it will make the work effective by every kind of money that promised relief to the debtor class and prosperity to the industrial masses. They are responsible for the most cruel and merciless kind."

WHAT ITS EFFECT WILL BE.

"A boycott of this kind will agitate the money question, test the sincerity of some doubtful free silver advocates, and stick a dagger into the heart of the money power inasmuch for the dagger it has stuck into the hearts of the people."

"I am not entirely cold-blooded, but believe in meeting the enemy on its own field. It may be argued that the boycott herein proposed will disturb business and make money scarcer than it already is, and that during these hard times people ought to accept any kind of money. But let it be remembered that this boycott is against a soulless combine that is responsible for the scarcity of money, low wages and business depression."

"This boycott will precipitate the great conflict with the people on one side and the banks on the other, and the issues will be as sharply drawn as in the struggle of Andrew Jackson with the old United States Bank sixty years ago. It will force the corporations and every form of private monopoly to take sides in the contest. It will force a pictorial press and a foreign money power to reveal the hidden hand of American politics and establish an impassable barrier between the tolling masses of America and the Shylocks and pensioned lords of the world. And if it accomplishes these things, it will be a great victory for the people."

"The struggle of 1896 must result in victory for the common people, or the hope of American liberty is lost and recovery impossible through methods now sanctioned by law."

AN AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN.

"The campaign must be waged against the combined force of the plutocracy and the allied forces of the plutocracy and tyranny throughout the world, and, in the light of recent events, it must be the most aggressive and offensive campaign ever waged in this country."

"We can expect no permanent relief without a struggle, and therefore let us precipitate the conflict on our side and on the side that will expose the unscrupulous money advocates. This can be most effectively done by a national boycott on the unscrupulous, un-American, unconstitutional notes of the national bank."

"On and after September 1, 1895, let every Knight of Labor to obey this order after the date named. Mr. Sovereign emphatically answered that it was."

"Not only that," said he, "but we expect similar orders to be issued by the other sympathetic organizations. The national banks are responsible for most of the ills that afflict the tilling masses of this country, and it is the most effective way to cope with them. While they cry down the dollar of our fathers, and proclaim against fiat money, they themselves issue money that cannot even be called fiat, for that work is supposed to give the force of a legal tender to make such money a legal tender. They circulate notes which are not money, but which draw interest from their date of issue. This boycott will put the banks on the defensive, and more than anything else help to expose the fallacies of the so-called sound-money doctrine."

EVERY KNIGHT MUST OBEY.

Asked if it were obligatory on every Knight of Labor to obey this order after the date named, Mr. Sovereign emphatically answered that it was.

"Not only that," said he, "but we expect similar orders to be issued by the other sympathetic organizations. The national banks are responsible for most of the ills that afflict the tilling masses of this country, and it is the most effective way to cope with them. While they cry down the dollar of our fathers, and proclaim against fiat money, they themselves issue money that cannot even be called fiat, for that work is supposed to give the force of a legal tender to make such money a legal tender. They circulate notes which are not money, but which draw interest from their date of issue. This boycott will put the banks on the defensive, and more than anything else help to expose the fallacies of the so-called sound-money doctrine."

EVERY KNIGHT MUST OBEY.

Asked if it were obligatory on every Knight of Labor to obey this order after the date named, Mr. Sovereign emphatically answered that it was.